

ARNOLFINI

Arnolfini is a member of The Bristol DIY Network; an independent gathering of arts organisations, large and small, funded and unfunded, all of whom deliver cultural programmes within the city of Bristol.

We meet regularly to advocate for the sector and to discuss and inform policy, as well as forming working groups in response to specific issues and to develop shared activity. This thinking feeds directly into the wider cultural conversations happening at a high level in the city through the Cultural Strategy Steering Group.

The group's members work across different scales and different artforms; some specialise in participatory opportunities, others seek out an audience; some charge, some don't; and some provide complex programmes that sit across a number of strands.

Together, we are committed to the successful future of our city, and the creativity of both Bristol and Bristolians.

Members include Bristol Old Vic, Watershed, Knowle West Media Centre, Artspace Lifespace, Field Art Projects, Circomedia, Architecture Centre, Colston Hall, Bristol Arts and Culture and many others.

If you are an independent artist, practitioner or smaller organisation unable to attend a meeting, you can share ideas, views and concerns with us via Theatre Bristol who help to administer the group, or one of the above members. We are working on a bursary scheme to help those who are self-employed or might need extra help to attend meetings. If this is you please contact us via Sarah at Theatre Bristol (sarah@theatrebristol.net) to discuss your requirements.

If you represent an organisation interested in attending a meeting, or would like to find out more, please get in touch for more information, via sarah@theatrebristol.net
